

On this day, you entered your journey of earth...

Each day we get to honor you... you who have given us the opportunity to listen to your voice, to touch your skin, to call out to you as our beloved, and learn through our connection what love feels like.

*You journey began in the heart of one.
In the conscious heart of us all.*

Your steps have been guided by the rhythm of life, pulsating through each decision, choice and action.

Each moment you live, is a discovery of your true home.

Precious One, thank you for your willingness to journey again, into love's discovery. Your birth is a blessing.

We are honored to discover ourselves within it.

@ sharon ann rose